ABSTRACT

Based upon a questionnaire survey of two-year institutions conducted by the American Association of Community and Junior Colleges (AACJC), this directory provides a comprehensive list of 1,219 community, junior, and technical colleges in the United States and its territories, as well as 1980 and 1981 statistics on enrollments and personnel for each. Following introductory material on the uses of the directory, information is presented on the AACJC, its mission and goals, and affiliated councils and associates. After explaining how to interpret the data, summarizing changes in institutions since the previous year, and defining key terms, the directory lists each two-year college alphabetically by state or country and provides the following information: location; chief executive officer; telephone number; year college classes began; type of control or affiliation; AACJC membership; state recognition or accrediting agency; type of academic calendar; October 1980 and 1981 full- and part-time and total enrollment; community education enrollment in 1980-81; full- and part-time and total faculty, professional staff, and administrators as of October 1981; and tuition and fees required in 1981-82. Next, tables are presented summarizing enrollment and personnel data by state for all institutions, and for public and independent colleges. Lists of community, junior, and technical college organizations and state administrators for two-year college education, and an alphabetical listing of colleges conclude the directory. The AACJC Constitution is included. (AYC)

INTRODUCTION

The annual directory of community, technical, and junior colleges has come to be recognized as the most authoritative and up-to-date publication of names, addresses, enrollments, and other facts and figures about the institutions it covers. It has provided easy access to important information about individual colleges and at once has given clues as to trends on enrollments, staffing, tuitions, and fees.

To make this, the 1982 Directory of Community, Junior, and Technical Colleges even more useful, we have added an introductory section on the organization, services, and goals of the American Association of Community and Junior Colleges. Since AACJC serves as the umbrella organization and voice of the institutions, it seemed appropriate to combine the narrative about the Association with the listing and statistics on the colleges that it represents.

The Directory includes names and addresses of all institutions and their chief executive officers. Accreditation status, membership in the Association, and types of programs are identified. Enrollment totals—part-time and full-time—for fall of the current academic year (1981–82) and for the fall of the previous academic year (1980–81) are indicated for each session. The report also lists best estimates of the burgeoning community service/adult education enrollments.

Numbers of faculty and staff and of administrators—full-time and part-time—are listed for each college. Tuitions and estimated fees are covered.

The data are analyzed in a special section—compared with data for previous years—and summary tables provide totals on both a national and state-by-state basis. From the tables and the analysis, users can get some idea of trends and patterns of growth and development for the field. The information will show that growth continued this year.

The data were supplied by colleges responding to a questionnaire survey conducted by the Association. As in the past, the response was excellent. Data were checked by staff here, and followup was made by mail and telephone when questions arose. The information was computerized and printed out for use in the publication. Ultimately, the responding colleges take responsibility for the reliability of the information. For that reason, we can be certain that this Directory is as accurate as possible.

I believe that in its new format and more comprehensive content this publication will serve its users even better than in the past. If it raises additional questions about community, technical, and junior colleges—and answers others—it will have served a most beneficial purpose.

The American Association of Community and Junior Colleges

The American Association of Community and Junior Colleges (the name was changed in 1972 to include community) represents the interests of administrators, faculty, and trustees in public and private community, junior, and technical colleges. The Association serves as a unifying force for a special segment of higher education—education that is community-based, accessible, and adaptable to serve individual and community needs. It is education that represents "Opportunity with Excellence."

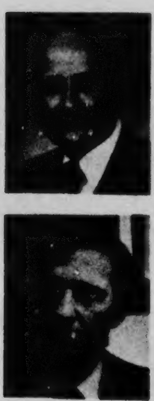
The mission of the American Association of Community and Junior Colleges is to exert leadership, act as advocate, and provide services in support of community, junior, and technical colleges as these institutions deliver accessible educational opportunities designed to address the needs of the individuals, organizations, and communities forming their constituencies.

The Association promotes projects, programs, and cooperative activities that develop an understanding of the role and functions of community, technical, and junior colleges. Perhaps more than any other single organization, the Association has paved the way for universal opportunity in higher education.

THE ORGANIZATION

Board of Directors

The Association is governed by a 31-member Board of Directors. The Board meets three times annually, in different parts of the country, to develop and monitor the policy framework within which the AACJC carries out its work. An internal committee structure provides for much of the indepth work of the Board, with the committees meeting periodically during the year. Current committees, appointed by the chairman of the Board, are:



Executive Committee—responsible for personnel matters, finance, and for emergency situations. Joe Rushing is chairman and Harold D. McAninch is vice chairman.

Committee on Directors—responsible for internal operations of the Board and acts as the Association's nominating committee. Harlan Heglar is chairman.

Panel on Association Vitality—responsible for long-range planning for the Board and acts on affiliation of councils of interest groups fostered by AACJC. Marm M. Harris is chairman.

Awards Committee—responsible for determining national awards and persons to receive such awards. Judith S. Eaton is chairperson.

Board members normally serve terms of three years each, with one third of the Board elected each year. Eighteen directors are representatives of institutions, elected by the members; three are representatives of institutions, elected by the Board; six are representatives of the affiliated councils, elected by the AACJC membership; and one member is the immediate past chairman of the Board, elected by the Board. By constitutional authority, the majority of the Board must be chief executive officers.

Nominations of the institutional representatives are made by the Committee on Directors. While continually open to receive recommendations, the Committee contacts the institutional members in the early fall, seeking recommendations for the following year. The committee seeks persons capable and willing to bring dedicated and creative leadership to the Association and to the Board. With the recommendations from the field, together with its own experience, the Committee meets in the late fall to develop a slate of multiple nominations. Additional nominations can be made from the field following the committee's report. The name of any such person, qualified to be a member of the Board, is added to the annual ballot when supported by letters from at least 50 official institutional representatives.

Annual elections, by mail ballot, are conducted no later than April 15 of each year. Each member institution is authorized one ballot to be completed by the official institutional representative.

Further information about the Board of Directors may be obtained from the president of the Association, or secretary of the Board.

Officers

There are five officers of the Association. The chairman and vice chairman of the Board are elected by the Board of Directors each spring, to serve one year—July 1 through June 30. The president of the Association is appointed by the Board to serve for a time designated by the Board. The secretary and treasurer of the Association are designated by the president, with the approval of the Board. Current officers (1981–82) are:

Chairman of the Board of Directors: Joe B. Rushing

Vice Chairman of the Board of Directors: Harold D. McAninch

President and Chief Executive Officer: Dale Parnell

Treasurer and Vice President: James W. White

Secretary: Jack C. Gernhart

Commissions

Two commissions have been created by the Board to provide guidance in specific areas of concern to the Association. Commission members are appointed by the chairman of the Board and normally serve terms of three years.

- The Commission on Governmental Relations, composed of representatives from the field, provides counsel on government related matters to the president of the Association and to the Board of Directors. Dwight E. Davis is chairman.

- The Commission on Small/Rural Community Colleges, composed of twelve chief executive officers from member institutions, focuses attention on the needs and concerns of small or rural colleges. The chairman is Paul C. Gianini, Jr.

Presidents Academy

- The Presidents Academy devotes attention to the roles, welfare, and professional development of chief executive officers of AACJC member institutions. It provides opportunities to exchange ideas, a program for in-service professional development, and a means of expressing concerns of chief executive officers. Inquiries may be directed to Dale Lake, chairman, Presidents Academy, or the president of the Association.

Association of Community College Trustees

AACJC maintains close working relationships with the Association of Community College Trustees. ACCT provides the trustees of community and technical colleges with updated and improved tools of Boardsmanship; fosters public understanding; and promotes the philosophical concept of these institutions. The president for 1981–82 is Ronald D. Mears. William H. Meardy serves as executive director.

Affiliated Councils

AACJC has established a system of councils of interest groups. The council structure makes possible a flexible organizational arrangement with the Association through which the common interests of groups can be served. Councils provide the mechanisms for individuals beyond the official institutional representatives to affiliate with the work of the Association. Through a formal process, councils are recognized for affiliation for specified periods of time, usually three years. Through regular review processes by the Panel on Association Vitality, the period of recognition may be extended. Thirteen councils are pres-

The Services

The Association provides a broad range of services to member institutions. The services are designed to respond to members' concerns over issues, problems, and legislative decisions that affect community, junior, and technical colleges.

Conventions and Workshops

The Association's annual convention promotes the exchange of ideas and information among some 2,500 representatives from colleges nationwide. During the year other conferences, workshops, and assemblies offer opportunities for special interest groups to come together, particularly for professional development.

Governmental Relations

An office of governmental relations monitors congressional action on bills affecting higher education and keeps colleges up to date on pending legislation. The staff cooperates with other associations when sharing of information is in the interest of all postsecondary institutions. Staff members also prepare testimony for presidents and compile data for members of Congress when requested.

AACJC makes certain that the interests of community, technical, and junior colleges are reflected fully on federal legislation and programs supporting postsecondary education.

The Association's affiliated National Council on Resource Development holds a workshop on federal programs in Washington each year.

Data and Research

The office of data and research responds to hundreds of requests for information about two-year colleges. The office collects and analyzes the data used to compile the authoritative Community, Junior, and Technical College Directory, which is published annually.

Information on trends and developments in two-year colleges is disseminated widely to colleges, organizations, and state and federal governmental agencies. Fact sheets on various aspects of community college education are updated and circulated annually.

Community and Junior College Journal

The Journal, a national magazine with a circulation of 25,000, is one of the Association's official publications. It is produced eight times yearly and contains articles on exemplary programs and processes in member colleges, national issues and trends, and provocative new ideas.

The AACJC also publishes in-depth reports on timely topics in separate books and booklets.

A series of pocket books on innovative programs, trends, and developments is being published.

AACJC Letter

The president of the Association provides timely information and commentary on problems and issues that chief executives can use to advance their institutions. The information is disseminated in a newsletter called The AACJC Letter.

Communications

The communications office of the Association provides information to the media through press releases, public service television and radio announcements, publications, and staff contact. The aim of the office is to broaden the public's awareness of the opportunities and services offered by the 1,200 two-year colleges throughout the country. Close contact is maintained with the National Council on Community Relations, made up of communications officers at member colleges.

Resource Development

General services of the Association are supported by membership dues. The publications activity receives partial support from sales income, the other from membership.

The Association actively seeks additional financial support from both the public and private sectors. As it does so, it helps to provide services for member institutions.

Over the years, the Association has received project and general support from most departments of government—State, Commerce, Labor, Education, Energy, Housing and Urban Development, Health and Human Services, Justice, Transportation, and Treasury. It has received contributions for both general development and special projects from the U.S. Steel Foundation, American Telephone & Telegraph, International Business Machines, W. K. Kellogg Foundation, General Electric Foundation, Lily Foundation, Danforth Foundation, Ford Foundation, Ford Motor Company Fund, Alfred P. Sloan Foundation, Commonwealth Fund, General Motors Foundation, Gulf Oil Company, Shell Companies Foundation, Koppers Company, Cities Service, Time, Inc., Amoco Foundation, Husky Oil Company, Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, Charles Stewart Mott Foundation, Olin Corporation Charitable Trust, Prudential Insurance Company, Rockefeller Foundation, Sears-Roebuck Foundation, Carnegie Corporation of New York, and Exxon Educational Foundation.

Mission and Goals

In 1982 the Board of Directors adopted a new mission statement for the Association.

The mission of the American Association of Community and Junior Colleges is to exert leadership, act as advocate, and provide services in support of community, junior, and technical colleges, as these institutions deliver accessible educational opportunities designed to address the needs of the individuals, organizations, and communities forming their constituencies.

chief executive officer has designated, in writing, another individual.

II. Organizational Structure

1. Officers and Directors

Directors shall serve for no more than two complete terms. A complete term shall normally be three years; however, a term of two years or more shall be considered a complete term.

Officers of the Board of Directors shall be a chairman and a vice chairman, elected by members of the Board. Election of the officers shall take place at the spring meeting of the Board, with term of office to be for one year, beginning July 1 of the year of their election. The elected chairman and the elected vice chairman shall be limited to serving one term in their respective offices.

2. Committees of the Board

The Board of Directors shall have an executive committee from its own membership, a committee on directors, and a Panel on Association Vitality. It may also establish ad hoc committees. These committees shall be appointed by the chairman of the Board.

3. Meetings of the Board

The Board of Directors shall meet at least twice a year. Written notice of all Board meetings shall be sent to the Directors at least thirty (30) days in advance.

4. Other Groups

The Board of Directors may authorize the creation or discontinuance of commissions, committees, task forces, or similar groups responsible for broad areas of Association activities under the guidance and direction of the Board. The Board of Directors shall establish the tenure of members of such commissions and committees. The chairman of the Board shall appoint the members of committees, commissions, and other such groups.

5. Responsibilities of the President

The president of the Association shall have general administrative supervision of the affairs of the Association and shall be responsible for the execution of such plans and policies as the Board of Directors may authorize, direct, or approve. He shall assign staff members appropriate titles and duties. He shall be ex officio a member of all commissions and committees excepting the nominating committee. He shall report annually to the Association, and shall make such other reports as the Board of Directors may request. He shall prepare and recommend an annual budget to the Board of Directors. He shall be responsible for the collection of dues and for the custody of funds of the Association and shall make payments therefrom in accordance with the authorizations and directions of the Board of Directors. He shall serve at the pleasure of the Board of Directors, or for such term as the Board of Directors may determine. A secretary and a treasurer may be designated by the president with approval of the Board of Directors.

6. Delegation of Authority

The Board of Directors, the governing body of the Association may at its discretion delegate portions of its authority (except approval of the budget) to the specific officers of the Association, to committees of the Board or to councils, commissions, and committees of the Association.

7. Councils

The Board may from time to time enter into an agreement with councils, which are organized and operate for purposes which contribute to and significantly benefit the purposes of the Association. Such an agreement, for a specified period of time, will constitute a formal affiliation with the Association. Such councils shall be organized and operated in a manner consistent with rules and regulations approved by the Board. For a council to become officially affiliated with the Association, it must submit a written request to the Board of Directors setting forth its purposes, membership criteria, form of governance, and financial structure. Approval of the Board and written notification to the council constitute official recognition and affiliation with the Association. The Board may withdraw formal affiliation of a council by a written ninety (90) day notice. Any notice of withdrawal must set forth the reason. A group so affected may be granted a hearing by the Board if an appeal is filed within thirty (30) days after such notice is mailed by the Board.

III. Nominations

1. Nominations for the eighteen institutional representatives shall be by the Board of Directors' committee on directors. Additional nominations may be made from the membership of institutional representatives when supported by fifty signatures of institutional representatives.

2. Nominations for the eighteen institutional representatives, including source and biographical statements about nominees, shall constitute a mail ballot to be sent to the official institutional representatives by April 15 of each year.

3. The Board of Directors shall elect its at-large members from nominations made by the Board's committee on directors, with results announced to the membership at the earliest practical date following election.

4. Each recognized council not represented on the Board of Directors, including those councils whose terms are to end in the current Board year, will be invited to submit a nomination to the Board's Committee on Directors. This nomination from each council shall be by whatever procedure is endorsed by a decision of the members of each council concerned. If a council nominee is officially connected with an institution eligible for membership in the Association, that institution must be an institutional member. The nominations for the recognized councils, together with source and biographical statements about the nominees shall be a part of the mail ballot to be sent to the official institutional representatives by April 15 of each year.

5. In cases of vacancies, replacements are to be made for the remainder of the membership year by appointment of the Board of Directors.

IV. Succession of Officers and Directors

1. Members of the Board shall be considered to be ineligible to serve in the category in which they were elected, if by reason of change of position they no longer represent that category. The term of office of such a member shall be terminated effective the date of change.

V. Membership Lists

1. Names of all members shall be published annually.

2. Any members whose dues are unpaid for the preceding year shall be dropped from the membership list.

3. Institutions dropped for non-payment of dues may be reinstated by making a new application for membership in which case the Board may require the payment of delinquent dues.

VI. Fiscal Policy

1. The fiscal year of the Association shall begin January 1 and close on December 31. The Board of Directors shall have authority to change the fiscal year.

2. The Board of Directors shall adopt an annual budget for each fiscal year.

3. The Association, on approval by the Board of Directors, may accept grants from foundations and other appropriate donors and enter into contract with the federal government and other appropriate agencies to pursue investigations and perform services consistent with Association objectives.

Interpreting the Data

The growth in community, technical, and junior college enrollments continues. The December 9, 1981, Chronicle of Higher Education reported that total enrollments in all U.S. colleges rose 1.9 per cent over the previous fall and set a new record of 12,322,469. The Chronicle's data were from the National Center for Education Statistics in the U.S. Department of Education. The Center's statistics show an estimated 225,574 additional students enrolled at all colleges and universities. Increases in two-year colleges account for all but 520 of the additional enrollments in their data.

This Directory reports data received by AACJC directly from the institutions that make up the community, technical, and junior college field that the Association represents. It shows a total credit enrollment of 4,887,675 persons in fall 1981, as compared to 4,825,931 for the fall of 1980, for an increase of 1.27 percent. These are headcount figures. Non-credit community education enrollments grew from 3,977,050 persons to 4,088,513 for an increase of 2.8 percent.

Full-time enrollments actually declined .59 percent from the previous year, while part-time enrollments grew 2.46 percent, thus continuing a trend over recent years that has seen part-time students move from a minority to a majority. Of the 4.89 million students in community, technical, and junior colleges in fall 1981, 3.07 million, or 62.8 per cent, are part-time students.

The number of institutions, 1,219, is a decrease from last year's Directory, which listed 1,231. We ask state-level officials each fall to indicate to us which institutions should be listed in this Directory. Also, we examine the catalogs of colleges, especially the few that fail to respond to our survey. The inclusion of a college one year and not the next does not necessarily mean it has ceased to exist. Its mission or place in the state system may have changed. See the section on "Changes in Institutions Since the 1981 Directory" for details.

An important point in looking at the credit enrollments is that they are fall enrollments: an October "snapshot." A poll of institutional researchers in community colleges has indicated that a conservative estimate of additional unduplicated enrollments in other semesters, tri-mesters, and summer sessions is 50 percent. Thus, to calculate how many persons are served in a complete year, one should conservatively add 50 percent to the fall enrollment figure. And, of course, to get the complete picture for this type of institution, the non-credit enrollment should be added. (The non-credit enrollments reported in the Directory are for a full year.) Therefore, this picture may be useful:

4.89 million credit enrollment, fall 1981
2.44 million credit additional enrollments in other semesters
4.08 million non-credit enrollments
11.41 million persons total

A similar calculation made last year in an "Indicators Brief" published in the AACJC Letter for October 2, using 1980 enrollment data, showed a total of 11.2 million persons served, or 7.1 percent of the 1980 U.S. adult population, age 18 years and older.

Another interesting point in this Directory information is the column that shows the year of establishment. It was in the 1960's that the great surge in growth of the public community college took place. Many of the institutions listed here soon will be celebrating their 20th anniversaries. The St. Louis Community College District, host of the 1982 AACJC convention, for example, celebrates its 20th anniversary this year. Table A reflects how the total number of institutions has grown in 20 years. Tables B and C show the picture for public and private institutions. Table D shows developments in non-credit enrollments since 1974, when the collection of this information was begun.

We appreciate the response of the institutions in providing this information to the Association and the opportunity we have to present it to the public. Over the years this Directory has become a valuable reference for many uses. That value is attributed to the excellent cooperation received from the institutions listed here and the state-level officials who assist us in identifying the colleges that should be surveyed.
